School of Education requirements for students entering fall 2017

In addition to these core requirements, students may also have division requirements.

All PhD students are required to take a course in the Foundations of Educational Inquiry that introduces students to the landscape of the field of education with particular emphasis on the philosophy of educational inquiry:

- C I 601: Foundations of Educational Inquiry (3 credits)

OR

- ELPS 601X: Foundations of Educational Inquiry (3 credits) (this is only available to students in the Thursday/Friday course delivery format)

Additionally, all PhD students in the School of Education are required to take a core set of research methods courses:

- RESEV 603X: Foundations of Qualitative Inquiry in Education (3 credits)
- One course in quantitative methods
- One additional research methods course